5 Tips to protect your privacy online

1. Think before you post! Think about the photos, comments, messages and videos you post online, before you or your parents post them.
2. Remember that things you post and share may not be private. Remember that people can copy things online and send them to other people.
3. Know who your friends are. If you don't know someone in person, then you can't be sure who that person is online.
4. Protect your privacy with passwords. Learn how to make strong passwords and don't share them with other people.
5. Respect your friends. Ask if it is okay to share a photo or video of someone else before you or a parent post it. Don't say mean things about other people online.

If you're worried about something you see online, or have questions about how to protect your privacy, talk with an adult you trust.

Kids go online earlier in life than ever before – which means that parents and guardians should start talking about the digital world and online privacy much sooner than they used to. We created this activity sheet as a fun way to get the conversation started.

This activity sheet is available free of charge; we encourage you to copy and share it.
We've developed this activity sheet and other materials to help to raise awareness of privacy issues among young Canadians and provide information to help them reduce privacy risks.
